An automobile nearly claimed expensive toll from Mayor W. H. Ward at Jockey Hollow, Tuesday evening, when a touring car driven at a fairly stiff pace, it is said, collided with the rear end of the mayor's carriage. His Honor had pulled up to one side of the highway when the car came along. Without a warning, the big machine poked its head into the back of the wagon and the mayor presently found himself descending by no easy stages to the ground. One wheel of the wagon was almost entirely demolished by the collision, and the rear axle was stripped from the body of the carriage. The motorist did not tarry long after the two vehicles came together, although the mayor caught his registry number as the machine disappeared in the dusk.

Because too heavy a blast was set off in Winooski to blow out a tree stump, things happened in quick succession. The stump itself was driven across the street and into the window of Mrs. Francis Couterman's house, by which she was sitting. It threw her to the floor, the broken glass from the window seriously cut her daughter, Gertrude, and also herself, the stump knocked out the whole window and became wedged in the casing so it had to be pried out. Another window was also knocked out by the explosion and several window panes were broken out and fragments of the stump landed a block away. An Italian, who claimed he understood the use of dynamite, had charge of the proceedings and put eight sticks of the explosive in the roots of the tree. The report was heard a mile away.
